1) EDITORIAL from Merle

If you like gray skies, rainy, snowy weather and lots of gloom and doom just come to Ohio. We seem to have plenty of all of the above lately. It wouldn't be so bad if the sun came out but we go for days without even one little ray peeping out between the clouds. It's great for setting the mood for suicide other than that it's hard to get motivated. But it is what it is and until I move or global warming changes things I guess I'm stuck with it.

Well, I went to the dentist this morning for my 6 month cleaning and exam. All's well and my flossing is paying off. Looks like I'll be able to continue chewing my own food for a few years. That's a plus. Losing your teeth must be a real bummer. I hear you can't even taste food anymore. Not alone the whole putting them in, taking em out. I wear contacts and having to put in my eyeballs every day is enough of a workout for me. Here's hoping my teeth stick around for a long time. Hopefully until I die. Yes, that's it. Some people want to die with their boots on. Me, I want to die with my teeth in <LOL>

The dogs have cabin fever. If they could talk I think they'd tell me just how bored they really are. I keep telling them to get a job and earn their keep but they just don't listen. Seems all they want to do is lay around the house and sponge off me. Sounds like todays teenagers. As soon as the weather breaks we can get out and walk. At least they can't get pregnant or ask me for money. <grin>

Until next time. Merle out.

2- How Do Custom Order Buttons Boost Response? Read This Article Now to Find Out!

By Doug Barger

There's surprising test results that show positive proof that using customized order buttons increase sales conversions on mini websites by as much as four times.

That is quite a bit of money being left on the table for those companies, business owners and internet marketers who are not using them.

When I first learned of this statistic I was sort of skeptical until I tried it out for myself and noticed that it was exactly true to the tests in my real life experience.

Other than just seeing a paypal button or order now, the reasons that the custom order buttons increase sales response rates is because it makes the order button customized in the same colors and logo of the rest of the website and makes it just a more natural and seamless part of the sales process.

For instance, if you're using a minisite to make the most of your sales and you split test your site using an order button that you had customized versus one that was just any order button, you'll find that the customized order buttons increase sales.

This is definitely worth testing for ANYONE who has a web site online with the purpose of making sales.

Using your company logo on the order button and using the same colors in addition to more "hot" colors like red and orange with arrows pointing to the order button coupled with a strong call to action will dramatically increase your sales conversions rate after just a short time of using this method for the first time. Aren't you glad you read this article to find out how to make more money in a shorter amount of time? To find out more just read on...
